Introducing Mahka...

Introducing art into clothes, couture in the street, Mahka shakes lines and creates a unique fashion label with many facets.

Based in Hong Kong, the brand inspirations are numerous and multi cultural, with a strong influence of French “touch” due to the origin of its founder. Other inspirations as street, rock and vintage are visible.

The Mahka universe offers clothes designed in collaboration with artists, hand made printed savoir faire and in limited quantity, in the aim to guarantee quality and exclusivity.

The first line of Mahka is a street collection claimed by the slogan “We don’t feed the pigeons”.
This collection talks to fashion people who follow their own trends and use art as self-expression.

More than clothes, it is a real lifestyle that Mahka represents.
